Energetic balancing through your own photograph

By Scott Lebowitz

If you are looking to have more energy, better health and well-being, better relationships, or to fulfill the purpose you choose for your life, look into the AIM Program of Energetic Balancing. AIM, which stands for 'all inclusive methods,' is a program of holographic energetic balancing that promotes the healing abilities within each one of us. The program was invented by Stephen Lewis, founder of EMC2 in Las Vegas, Nevada.

"A hologram or anything unique to you will reveal what imbalances are present in you," says Lewis. "Everything in life has a footprint, or a frequency, I measure in levels of consciousness. This shapes energy into the manifest physical particulate world.

"Everything is energy, but energy cannot be discussed, it has no properties and no taste, it just is. There is a distinction between wave and particle. The particle is shaped specifically and can be shaped into well being or elation or depression or cancer. Consciousness shapes the energy and each of us is empowered with the consciousness to create the life we want. There is an axiom in the world of spirituality- 'I am part of everyone and everyone is part of me.' Physics is trying to catch up to spirituality."

Using the Quantum Evaluation Device (QED), Lewis places a client's hologram within a circuit in a metal tray to look for energetic imbalances in the consciousness of that client. His database of over a half million energetic frequencies allows Lewis to assess where the individual has imbalances. This process exposes the photograph to balancing frequencies, which are received by the person, allowing that person to manifest an intention to heal and raise consciousness. The QED also helps measure your responsiveness to the healing treatments.

The Quantum Imprinting Device (QID) has every frequency stored within a huge bank of computers. As the frequencies are broadcast in a perpetual manner and transmitted through wires to large metal plates, the hologram is exposed to half a million frequencies. The balancing frequencies are sent out based on the imbalanced frequencies detected by the QED. The 'rosetta frequencies' translates and allows you to use your consciousness to allow you to select what you need to work on to heal.

Lewis resolutely refers to AIM as a healing process and not a curing process. "Curing is done externally to you, like in the way you would remove a disease or imbalance by medicine or surgery," he says. "Healing comes from within using a higher level of consciousness. Only you do it, but a lot of help is available in that process.

"There is no limitation as to what you can heal, but not everything can be treated or cured. All physicians understand that a patient's capacity to heal is critical to that patient's well-being. Taking personal responsibility is also very important in the healing process. It's a conscious choice we must make. Some levels require minimal consciousness, like for a paper cut, but some imbalances require us to give it what it demands. You can't make bargains with God. It underscores the importance of devoting your consciousness to healing twenty-four hours a day, seven days a week when needed."

"Everything in life has a footprint, or a frequency, I measure in levels of consciousness. This shapes energy into the manifest physical particulate world."

Lewis openly encourages people to seek out alternative modalities like holistic doctors, meditation, prayer, crystals, or reiki, if they perceive a benefit. "Healing is old as life," Lewis notes, "AIM is a technology, an extraordinary help, but they did build entire cities before chainsaws. With healing, there are many kinds of help available. Healing is done for yourself, but people can help you. Healers enable us to help ourselves. Most healers work on one person at a time, but AIM can help many people at once."

The AIM Program is available for free to those with the frequency of autism and Down Syndrome. Lewis traces this scholarship program to a conversation he had with Wayne Dyer, one of the country's pre-eminent motivational speaker and spiritual authors.

"Wayne called me and asked me to try to figure out what autism is energetically," Lewis recalls. "Autism is a syndrome with two hereditary imbalances. I put a little girl on the AIM program and six months later, I got a call from the little girl's parents saying she was not autistic anymore. Suddenly, parents of autistic children who were using AIM started calling me saying that their kid was no longer autistic. At a convention a little girl thanked me for healing her autism. The whole place choked up. If I have a gift to help, that's my calling, so anyone with the autistic frequency is free. The future is the kids. You've got to take care of the kids."

Though Lewis holds several degrees in the healing arts (such as homeopathy, naturopathy and acupuncture), he humbly downplays their impact in his career: "The degrees allow me to sound informed, but my only interest is really in subtle energy physics and energy of consciousness." Lewis is always finding new frequencies of imbalances and believes that once a client has dealt with imbalances, the client is then far more able to deal at a level of consciousness with the healing process. ✨

ARE YOU STRESSED OUT? TAKE DR. GOODMAN'S TEST

What's Your Wellness Quotient? Are you stressed out? Look back over the past six months. Have you been noticing changes in yourself or in the world around you? Think of your job, the family, and social situations. Allow 30 seconds for each answer. ### CALCULATE YOUR WELLNESS QUOTIENT

Total the results to see where you are on the scale and what you need to do

- 15 points Life is A-Ok. It can only get better.
- 16-30 points The road is becoming bumpier. You are getting closer to the edge. The yellow caution light should go on.
- 31-60 points It's not getting better by it's self. Time alone is not healing the wound.
- 61 or more You are in the Red Zone and need to make a change NOW.
